

Medicare Revalidation Deadline

If you participate in Medicare Part B, you must complete a CMS revalidation application every 5 years.

Not sure if you have to revalidate now? Use the Medicare Revalidation Look Up Tool to find if and when your revalidation is needed. It's easy (and fast). Just enter your name and/or NPI, plus your state, then hit "search."

Medicare Revalidation List

Medicare providers must revalidate their enrollment record information every three or five years. CMS sets every provider's revalidation due-date at the end of a month, and posts the upcoming six months online. A due date of "TBD" means that CMS has not set the date yet.

CMS offers several ways for you to view and group the revalidation dates of every provider:

- This data was last refreshed on 07/05/2016
- Revalidation due dates included on this list range between March 1, 2016 to January 31, 2017
- The next data refresh is tentatively scheduled for September 1st, 2016

How do I revalidate?

The most efficient way to submit your revalidation application is by using the CMS Internet-based PECOS system. PECOS allows you to review information currently on file, update and submit your revalidation electronically.

- Electronically sign the revalidation application; or
- Print, sign, date and mail the paper certification statement to your MAC through the Internet based PECOS system submission or
- Submit appropriate CMS 855 application.

Revalidation isn't just for physicians! Be sure to check revalidation status for PAs, APRNs and other non-physician providers in your practice.
